6th Annual Hedge Fund/ Alternative Investments Panel

Wednesday, October 22, 2008

Boca Country Club, Boca Raton, FL

For hedge funds and private equity players, the times they have changed. Credit derivatives and sub prime problems have knocked hedge fund managers and buyout experts at private equity back on their investment heels. And the problems don't stop there. Traditional investment vehicles managed by traditional managers are feeling the effects of the credit squeeze.

On October 22, the CFA Society of South Florida will host its Sixth Annual Hedge Fund/Alternative Investments Seminar. A panel of experts will discuss and debate the ramifications of the credit squeeze and the impact that will be felt by investors regardless of asset class.

Among some of the top issues to be addressed by our panelists:

- Are there more "bodies" to surface and more volatility to come
- Did hedge fund leverage cause a near market meltdown?
- Is too much liquidity chasing too little opportunity?
- Which hedge fund strategies are working best?
- Is the hedge fund industry now in a major shakeout and consolidation phase?
- Does structured finance deserve its current ill repute?
- Has the parade of private equity deals peaked for this cycle or just paused to reload?
- How significant are commodities as alternative investments?
- Have funds of hedge funds added value for investors?
- Do multi-strategy hedge funds make sense and for whom?
- Will October be a "trick" or a "treat" for investors this year?
